INTRODUCTION

The National Park Service, a bureau of the Department of the Interior, is responsible for administering and protecting Federally owned scenic, scientific, historic, and recreational areas of national significance that were established for the benefit and enjoyment of the people.

This report is a compilation of the yearly summations of the daily count or estimate of the number of visitors entering the areas administered by the National Park Service for the years 1904 through 1940. The reporting year comprises the twelve month period commencing October 1 and ending September 30. The report consists of four tables, each of which covers a ten year period except Table I. Each table includes only those areas reporting visitors for the period covered by that particular table.

For purposes of this report, the areas are grouped and the data summarized in accordance with the tabulation below. Areas listed in the tabulation are identifiable as to type by the code numbers.
