

Southeast Region

The following Research/Resources Management Reports now are available from the Uplands Field Research Laboratory, Great Smoky Mountains NP, Gatlinburg, TN 37738:

Nicholas, N.S. and P.S. White. 1984. The effect of balsam wooly aphid infestation on fuel levels in spruce-fir forests of Great Smoky Mountains National Park. (R:RM Report SER-74)

Peine, John D., Craig A. Walker, Paul H. Motts and William E. Hammitt. 1985. Evaluating communications with visitors to Great Smoky Mountains National Park. (R:RM Report SER-75)

Peine, John D., Charlotte Pyle and Peter S. White. 1985. Environmental monitoring and baseline data management strategies and the focus of future research in Great Smoky Mountains National Park. (R:RM Report SER-76)

* * *

Southeast Regional science editor Jim Wood, who also is doubling as editor of the Park Service's Servicewide Science Publications Program, has announced the acceptance of a new manuscript for publication in the Service's Natural History Series: "The Forests of Mount Rainier National Park: A Natural History" by William H. Moir. The manuscript is currently undergoing final revision and is scheduled for typesetting and publication by mid-1986.