

Institutional Animal Care & Use Committee

The National Park Service (NPS) Institutional Animal Care & Use Committee (IACUC) was established in 2010 to:

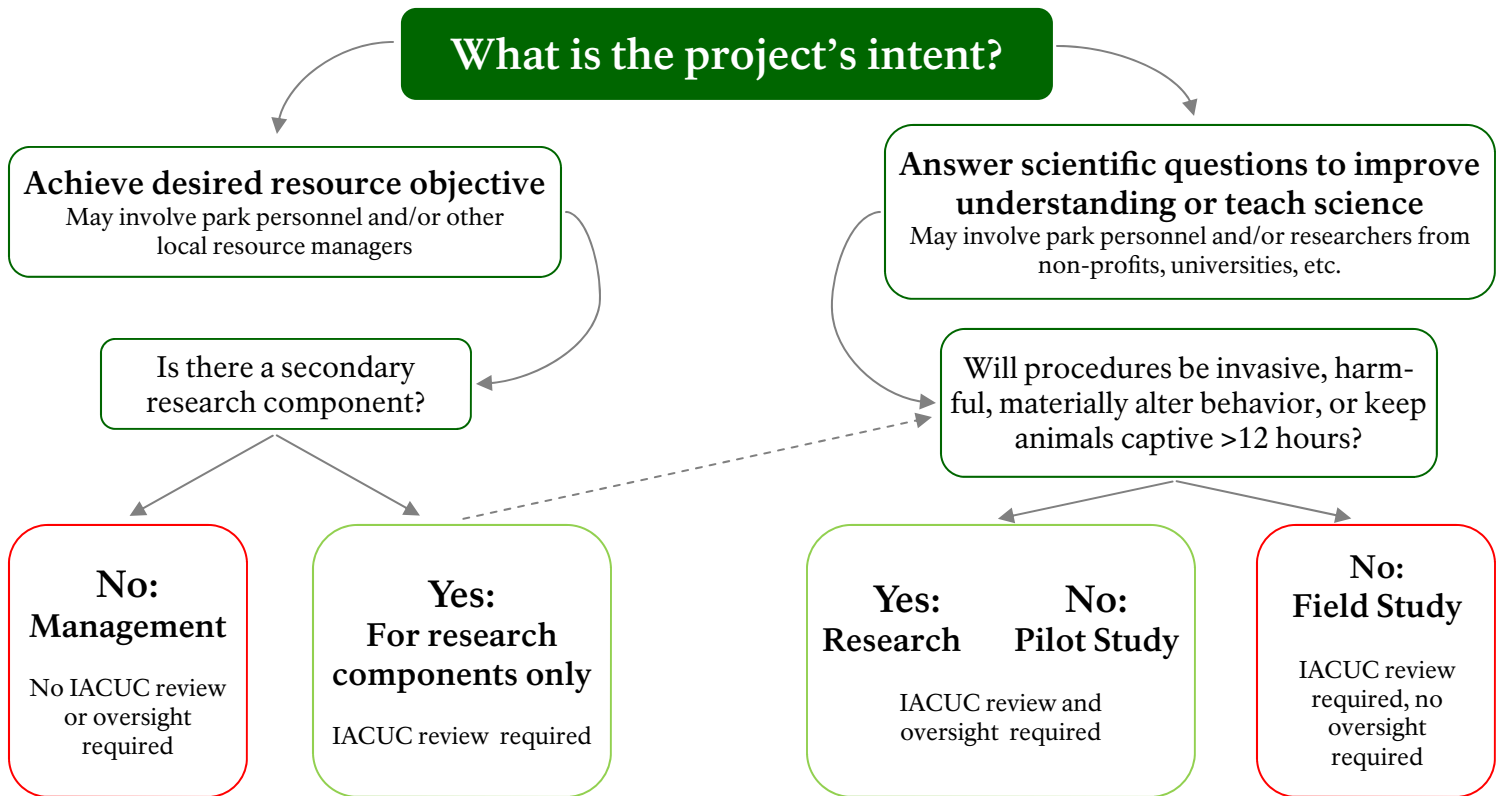

FACILITATE
the highest possible standards of science and stewardship throughout the service.

PROVIDE
oversight for the humane care and use of wild, vertebrate animals in research, teaching, and training in parks.

ENSURE
NPS compliance with the Animal Welfare Act, its regulations, and standards.

The NPS IACUC is managed in the Biological Resource Division of the Natural Resource Stewardship and Science Directorate and has appointed representatives from each of the seven regions.

Do you need IACUC review and/or oversight?
