Happy New Year

Yellowstone Wolves Victorious!

Good news! On Thursday, January 13th, the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver upheld the challenged wolf reintroduction rules as lawful under the Endangered Species Act and the National Environmental Policy Act. The three-judge panel reversed an earlier order and judgement of the district court to remove reintroduced wolves and their offspring from the Yellowstone and Central Idaho experimental populations. Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt commented:

"I am pleased that the courts have given a ringing endorsement to our wolf reintroduction program in Yellowstone National Park and central Idaho.

The court clearly agreed that the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service's reintroduction program is fully consistent with the Endangered Species Act.

Wolf reintroduction is a powerful demonstration of this Nation's commitment to protecting and restoring endangered species. Today's decision is a welcome vindication of our efforts to preserve this magnificent species."

Thrift Savings Plan Update:

Thrift Savings plan Open Season began November 15, 1999, and will continue through January 31, 2000. Employees covered by Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) or the Federal Employees' Retirement System (FERS) may enroll in TSP or change their contributions.

Information is available on the internet at www.tsp.gov and election forms (TSP-1) are available in the Personnel Office. Completed TSP-1's must be returned to the Personnel off by January 31, 2000.

Special Thanks.....

- The Yellowstone Association would like to thank everyone for making our booksale a success. Congratulations to the winners of the raffle prizes. Dennis Clark won the Thomas Moran book and Jon Dahlheim won the polar fleece vest.
- Thanks to all the employees who very generously donated toys and books for the Oglala Sioux collection. We had an incredible response from the Yellowstone area. Six other parks participated (Agate Fossil Beds, Badlands, Fort Laramie, Jewel Cave, Scotts Bluff and Wind Cave) and we had a total of five vehicles full of donations. We delivered the toys and book to Oglala, South Dakota on Saturday, December 11th, and got to see about 75 extremely happy children receive them.

Special thanks to Mia Blackie who coordinated Amfac's participation, Beth Perdue who assisted Mia, and Terry Povah and Buddy at Hamilton Stores. And a big thanks to our marathon drivers Irvin Blackie, Steve Petrick-Underwood and Skip Meehan who drove the 1200 miles in their personal vehicles! Mia Blackie and Ben Petrick-Underwood also assisted in the delivery. -Laura Joss

- A special thank you to my friends and co-workers for the birthday card and beautiful flowers presented to me at the Holiday party. What a great surprise! -Judy Jensen
- Since Anna's diagnosis with Juvenile Diabetes at age 2, many of our Yellowstone friends have asked how they could help our family deal with this devastating disease. We now have a suggestion!

Please consider becoming an advocate for diabetes research. Becoming an advocate involves minimal time and is the very best way for us to work towards curing Anna's diabetes. Researchers we have personally spoken to are predicting a cure within 10 years - before Anna graduates from high school! Since diabetes is the leading cause of adult blindness, kidney failure, nerve damage and nontraumatic amputation, we are committed to minimize its impact on our daughter's future.

Advocates receive alerts when legislation that affects diabetes research funding is pending before Congress and are asked to write letters of support to the appropriate offices. The time commitment is minimal - an average of about 1 hour a month to read the updates and do the letter writing.

If you are interested in becoming an advocate, please send me a message or call at 344-6632 or leave a message at 344-8536. Thank you for your continued support of our family and your concern for Anna's health. -Tim & Charissa Reid

News from the Yellowstone Park Foundation...

Funding Now in Place for Mt. Washburn Improvements

Christmas came a little early this year for Park staff and visitors who like to hike the scenic trails of Mt. Washburn to the Mr. Washburn Fire Lookout on the summit. In response to a Yellowstone Park Foundation proposal, on December 17 the GE Fund agreed to contribute the final $21,000 needed for a project to produce new interpretive signs and displays for the trails and lookout observation room on Mt. Washburn.

As many of you know, the existing interpretive signs along the Mount Washburn Trail and inside the fire lookout are out of date and in disrepair. Most of the exhibits in the observation room of the lookout were removed years ago due to poor condition and have never been replaced. Now that funding is in place for the project to be carried out, porcelain enamel displays that interpret Yellowstone's fire ecology and explain the visible evidence of wildfire on nearby slopes will be installed in the summit observation room. New interpretive signs along the Washburn trails will inform visitors about the area's resources and natural history, along with backcountry safety and hiker etiquette.

This project is a cooperative undertaking between several entities: the Yellowstone Association, the Nick Ceto family, Yellowstone National Park, and the Yellowstone Park Foundation. The Yellowstone Association funded the purchase of a "Virtual Time Traveler" that allows viewers to overlay major historical events like the explosion of the Yellowstone caldera over today's visible landscape. A donation by the Nick Ceto family will fund new panorama exhibits in the lookout station that identify prominent natural features visible from that point. This donation was made in memory of a young member of the family who, until he lost his battle with leukemia recently, loved Mt. Washburn.

Yellowstone National Park will pay for the physical and structural improvements of the observation room, and Park staff will manage and coordinate the planning, design, production and installation of the new interpretive exhibits at the trailheads and in the lookout. Diane Chalfant and Linda Young are the project managers.

Although the Yellowstone Park Foundation had already raised a portion of the funds needed for the new interpretive displays at the trailheads and in the lookout observation room, almost $21,000 was still needed in funding in early December of 1999. A grant request by the Foundation stressing the educational nature of the project matched up favorably with the GE Fund, which favors proposals that improve the quality of education in general and ensure access to education. The generous donation on December 17 by the GE Fund completed the funding needed for the Mt. Washburn exhibits project.

If all goes according to schedule, the new displays will be installed in the fall of 2001, after the improvements to the observation room are completed. One of the most popular and beautiful spots in Yellowstone for hikers will then be more enjoyable, as well as educational, for visitors and for Park staff alike.

Winter Driving Tips:

Winter Vehicle Emergency Kit - what you should keep in it...

- ♦ Sleeping bag or two blankets per person.
- ♦ Extra winter clothing, including jackets, pants, boots, socks, mittens and hats.
- ♦ Non-perishable food, including energy bars, candy, dried fruit, nuts or canned snacks, instant soup, coffee and hot chocolate can be included if you have a pack stove, heating element or Sterno to heat water.
- ♦ A minimum of a gallon of water.
- ♦ Matches, candles and a first aid kit.
- ♦ Other suggested items include a shovel, jumper cables, radio, toiletry items, flashlight, tire chains and a tow chain.

Always take time to clear your vehicle's windows...

- ♦ Did you know that besides being a driving hazard to yourself and others, under Wyoming statute, it is a traffic violation not to have a clear windshield and working wipers.

If you do get stranded, here are some signs of hypothermia...

- ♦ Uncontrollable fits of shivering
- ♦ Vague, slow, slurred speech
- ♦ Memory lapses or incoherence
- ♦ Immobile or fumbling hands
- ♦ Frequent stumbling or lurching
- ♦ Drowsiness and exhaustion
- ♦ Blueness of skin and dilation of pupils
- ♦ Decreased heart and respiratory rate

ATTENTION

The North District Maintenance staff would like to ask you to refrain from parking the front or back of your vehicle(s) over the sidewalks as it makes clearing the sidewalks much more difficult. Thank you for your cooperation!!

Mammoth Clinic News:

INFLUENZA (FLU) SEASON is present in our community. It is not too late to get a FLU shot. Vaccine is still available at the clinic. Please call for an appointment. Cost $10.00.

NEW SERVICES: We are excited to announce two new additions to our service:

COLLEEN ELDRED, AN OB/GYN NURSE PRACTITIONER, is available by appointment, to provide exams, prescriptions, consultations and referrals for the women in our community.

PAT COLEMAN RN has completed training through the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN. To provide Well Women Exams. This includes a clinical breast exam and pap smear as well as referral for Mammograms.

Keeping up with Preventive Health Services is very important for your well being. If you have any questions, or would like to schedule an appointment, please call Mammoth Clinic 344-7965.

Here's your chance to work for the Yellowstone Association! Several of our long-time employees are pursuing other adventures this year and we have Area Manager positions available in our educational bookstores at Mammoth, Canyon, Norris, Madison, and Grant.

Area Managers supervise one to four other employees and work regular shifts at the cash register in addition to administrative duties. This position requires previous supervisory experience, excellent customer service skills, and a genuine desire to share the park with visitors from all backgrounds. Rewards include a spectacular setting, a fun work environment, and the knowledge that all proceeds support educational projects in Yellowstone National Park. The season runs from mid-May to mid-October. Applicants must be available to work the entire season. Area managers typically work 32 to 40 hours a week. RV sites that are rented from the Park Service are available. The starting wage is $8.20 an hour. The application deadline is 2/15/00. For more information or to request an application, please contact Deborah Collins at 307-344-2292 or email at dtcollins@yellowstoneassociation.org

Eating Healthy:

Stir-Fried Pork with Broccoli and Cashews

Cooking spray

4 cups vertically sliced sweet onion

2 cups small broccoli florets

1 (1-pound) pork tenderloin, cut into thin slices

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon crushed red pepper

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped green onions

1 tablespoon sugar

1 tablespoon minced peeled fresh ginger

3 garlic cloves, minced

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup fat-free, less-sodium chicken broth

3 tablespoons low-sodium soy sauce

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped dry-roasted cashews

2 tablespoons dark sesame oil

2 cups hot cooked long-grain rice

1. Place a large nonstick skillet coated with cooking spray over medium-high heat. Add sweet onion; cook 8 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove the sweet onion from pan; place in a bowl. Recoat pan with cooking spray. Add broccoli; stir-fry 3 minutes. Add broccoli to sweet onion. Recoat pan with cooking spray. Add pork and red pepper, stir-fry 4 minutes or until pork loses its pink color. Reduce heat. Stir in the green onions, sugar, ginger, and garlic and cook 30 seconds, stirring constantly. Stir in onion mixture, chicken broth, soy sauce, and cashews, cook 1 minute. Drizzle with sesame oil. Serve with rice. Yield: 4 servings.

ADULT EDUCATION COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Using Herbs for Healthy Living!

Explore the fascinating world of herbs and herbal medicine. Drawing mainly from the rich traditions of the Chinese culture, as well as some Native American wisdom, we will look at the medicinal properties of herbs - common ones found all around us, as well as ones traditionally used in far eastern cultures. Learn how to incorporate the natural, health promoting properties of herbs into your daily diet and how to capitalize on their healing qualities in easily made tinctures, balms, and foods. Each week we will make a product or food for you to take home, as well as discussing the philosophies, ancient and modern, which promote their use. Learn about this exciting facet of the world around us!. Your instructor has an extensive background in this field and you'll enjoy her enthusiasm from her wealth of knowledge.

ADULT EDUCATION - WINTER 2000

YELLOWSTONE SEMINAR: TIMELY SUBJECTS FOR THE NEW CENTURY:

This course will provide community members with a better understanding of a some of the controversial ideas that people may have for the next century. Other topics will include subjects of interest to those interested in history. The format of the programs will vary.

January 19 - point/counter-point discussion about the management of national parks and other public lands. PERC Research Associate, Holly Lippke Fretwell, and Superintendent Mike Finley will be the presenters. One of the speakers will discuss their point of view for 20 minutes, followed by a 20 minutes discussion by the other speaker. Each speaker will have 2 twenty minute presentation, followed by a ten minute summary, and a 20 minutes question and answer session.

January 26 - same format as above. J. Bishop Grewell, PERC Research Associate and Dr. Glen Plumb, Resource Management Director for Yellowstone National Park, will discuss how to improve the habitat by 'ranching for wildlife'.

February 2 - same format as above. Richard L. Stroup, PERC Senior Associate, and Norman Bishop, retired Resource Interpreter at Yellowstone, will discuss the pros and cons of the 'Endangered Species Act'.

February 9 - Understanding Place: From Tanzania to Montana

Katherine M. Weist from the University of Montana's Department of Cultural/Historical will speak. All people have perceptions, ideas and deep feelings about the places where they have lived, are living, and want to live. Locality is central to our values, identity, and attachments to everyday life and social ties. Slides of African women and men living in a small Tanzanian town illustrate their experiences and the effects the town itself has upon the quality of their lives and conceptions of self. Through comparison with another culture and place, questions will be raised as to how the places of Montana influence our ties to each other, productive activities, and access to services and recreation.

February 16- presentation by individual from the Montana Committee for the Humanities Speakers Bureau.

INSTRUCTORS: See descriptions

MINIMUM NUMBER: 20

MEETING PLACE: Mammoth School multi-purpose room

COST: $12 (plus donations for last two sessions)

MEETING DATES: Wednesdays, starting January 19 and the following 4 Wednesdays
